

Bath Time Safari Care Instructions

Thank you for your purchase of the book, Bath Time Safari. You now own a unique book that is safe in water, dirt, and any food spill situation. My recommendations are below for care of the book.

- The book is completely waterproof, so please take it in the tub. After you're done in the bath, it is best to lightly dry the pages storing it away.
- Coloring and marking the bubbles to track your progress is recommended. For best results, please use a bathtub crayon and then wipe the pages off with a wet washcloth when finished. You can even color the book underwater!
- This book can also be colored on with Washable crayons if you're out and on the go. After you're finished, use a wet washcloth or paper towel to clean off between uses. It is recommended that you don't use brand new crayons with a sharper tip because pressing too hard with them can indent the paper, leaving a line in it after being cleaned off.
- While coloring on the book with regular crayons is not recommended, don't panic if it happens; just try to wipe off the pages as soon as possible.
- Do not use permanent markers, colored pencils, or ball point pens on the pages. These can damage the pages and be challenging to clean off completely.
- While this paper is tear resistant, if you try to tear it or crumple it, a crease may form in the page. It's best to not try and tear up your book anyway, so just avoid that if possible.
- Please avoid scratching the surface of the pages with any objects, such as the plastic housing of the bath crayons when they are used up. These scratches can hurt the integrity of the paper and create an area that will chip away over time.

If you have further questions or comments, please email me at:

John@FIGIDPress.com